Making Predictions (Primary)

When reading a story or watching video, you can have students make predictions. This can be with or without a crystal ball!

- Before reading, have students look at the cover of a book and try to imagine what the story might be about.
- During the story, you can pause and ask students what they think might happen next.
- After the story ends, you might ask students to imagine what happens to the characters next.
